

CUGH 2010 Annual Meeting

TRANSFORMING GLOBAL HEALTH: THE INTERDISCIPLINARY POWER OF UNIVERSITIES

September 19 – 21, 2010

University of Washington | Seattle, Washington

The meeting will focus on three cutting-edge themes:

- Building the science base for global health: Research and evaluation
- Educational innovations and experiences in global health
- Enabling systems: Legal, regulatory and administrative infrastructure to support advances in global health

Join faculty, researchers, administrators, students, trainees and leaders from academia, government and international development groups to discuss the University's transforming role and how resources can be mobilized to advance global health. The CUGH annual meeting is the premiere conference focused on university-based global health research, education and international projects, providing practical information about building and managing a university program as well as opportunities to learn directly from global health experts and innovators.
